Senior Counsel

About

Lindsey is a seasoned discovery attorney with over fourteen years of experience guiding clients through all phases of discovery related to commercial and products liability litigation, regulatory inquiries, and government investigations. Lindsey's practice includes clients from diverse industries, including healthcare, manufacturing, financial services and energy. Lindsey's approach focuses on the intersection of law, technology and data governance to effectively advise clients on best practices and highlight developing trends in all phases of discovery while delivering tailored solutions that align with each client's unique objectives.

With a deep understanding of the intricacies of modern discovery processes, Lindsey collaborates closely with clients, co-counsel, in-house counsel and technology service providers to craft efficient, defensible and cost-effective discovery strategies. Lindsey identifies opportunities to leverage industry-standard and emerging technology to realize efficiencies for her clients. Lindsey's proactive mindset and commitment to serving clients makes her a trusted advisor in the ever-changing landscape of discovery.

Lindsey maintains her national practice from Atlanta, where she lives with her husband, Ryan and her two children Connell and Amelia.
