Meredith Perlman

Senior Counsel

About

Meredith is an attorney in Hilgers' Edge discovery practice. She has experience across multiple review platforms, with a focus on complex discovery issues, including the electronic discovery process. Meredith has represented clients across a range of industries including financial services in connection with regulatory investigations, commercial, anti-trust, pharmaceutical, and product liability litigation. She is trusted by her clients due to her ability to continuously innovate and drive efficiency to best serve their needs.

Meredith is experienced in all stages of case review and preparation using analytics and active learning to achieve the most efficient and best results for clients. She holds a Relativity Review Management Specialist Certification, Relativity Analytics Specialist Certification, Relativity Generative AI Pro Certification and Brainspace Specialist Certification.

Before starting in private practice, Meredith attended Tulane University School of Law, where she was on the Jessup International Moot Court team and she continues to volunteer with the organization.

Meredith maintains her national practice from St. Louis, Missouri, where she lives with her husband, Ben, and her daughters, Daisy and Stella.
