

John Monroe

Paralegal

About

John brings over two decades of diverse problem-solving experience to bear for the firm's clients. In addition to supporting litigators, he has directly served elected officials, spent hundreds of hours assisting with open meetings, and modernized dozens of business processes.

John employs a technology-forward approach to working as a paralegal. He frequently leverages non-AI automation in creative ways to lower costs, provide rapid support and ensure consistency.

A graduate of the University of South Florida's Professional and Technical Writing program, John is also an adept proofreader, a meticulous fact checker, and a tenacious researcher.

He is frequently staffed on patent cases, appeals, and complex litigation.
